

Paul Hoben

Paul Hoben is the Director of Business Development the Aberdeen Carolina & Western Railway Company.

Paul came to the ACWR after 27 years in the concrete and construction materials industry as both a sales and marketing representative as well as a transportation coordinator. Paul attended Catawba College where he earned his bachelor's degree and later attended Pfeiffer University and received his master's in business administration. Paul brings a shipper's mentality to the ACWR which offers our customers and prospective customers an added consultative advantage. Paul has extensive experience in working with the Class I railroads and looks forward to